NORFOLK, VIRGINIA

The City of Norfolk enjoys the proud distinction of being the second city on the Atlantic seaboard in importance of location and transportation facilities but acknowledges no superior in respect to harbor accommodations, health conditions and inducements for residence and business as well as opportunities for mercantile and agricultural pursuits.

The city has an area of 9.33 square miles of which the public parks occupy 103.7 acres; 200 miles of streets of which 100 miles are improved and there are 100 miles of public sewers. To go thoroughly into and enumerate at length the items which go to make up Norfolk's claims for consideration would involve a labor which could only be compensated by personal investigation.

The growth of the city from its incipency in 1682 with an appreciable population shows a panorama of steady, substantial and tangible increase, until at the time of this publication there is a population within municipal limits of 86,540. And it is estimated that within a radius of fifteen miles from the center of the city more than 150,000 are located. This is more remarkable because of the fact that being directly on the coast admits of only one half of the circle area for population. The steady increases may be shown by comparison in the following:

First available census in 1790.....	2,959
Population in 1840.....	10,920
Population in 1880.....	21,966
Population in 1900.....	46,624
Population in 1914.....	86,540

This shows an increase of about 85% since 1900.

Plan of Government.

The municipal government is vested in a Mayor, a council consisting of two branches—Board of Aldermen and Common Council and a Board of Control, the latter consisting of three members, all bodies being elected by popular vote. The city is divided into five wards: Washington, Adams, Jefferson, Madison and Monroe. From each of these wards are elected three aldermen and five members of the Common Council making a total of 40 members to the council.

INDUSTRIAL.

Norfolk's productions are varied and manifold, and opportunities for investment of capital in manufacturing propositions are unlimited. There are at present over 400 manufacturing plants in operation, employing capital of $25,000,000.00 and 15,000 hands, and turning out $50,000,000.00 worth of products annually. Among the latter may be mentioned: Knit Goods, Silk, Manufactured Iron Articles of various kinds, Fertilizer, Lumber and its products, Cutlery, Farming Implements, Bricks, Carriages and Wagons, Butter Dishes, Paper Boxes, Veneer, Vegetable Barrels, Boxes and Crates, Creosoted Wood, Wines, Confectionery, and many others.

Here are handled annually and shipped for outside consumption :

Peanuts	over 2,000,000 bags,	value $15,000,000.00
Fertilizer	300,000 tons,	value 6,000,000.00
Cotton	540,150 bales,	value 33,500,000.00
Coal	12,000,000 tons,	value 30,000,000.00
Lumber	700,000,000 feet,	value 35,000,000.00
Oysters, Crabs and Fish		value 3,000,000.00
Vegetable Food Stuffs		value 15,000,000.00

Norfolk is the largest peanut center in the world, and the largest coal port in the world.

AGRICULTURE.

Taken as a unit for demonstration, the 100 square miles in which Norfolk is located, it is a fact, according to U. S. Government Agricultural Department statistics, that the soil produces more pecuniary value from agricultural sources than any other 100 contiguous square miles in the United States or Canada. The Norfolk-Portsmouth section is the green food produce supply for the North and West, and in the season of 1914, 5,000,000 packages of green food stuff were shipped, aggregating in value something like $15,000,000. One of the items of this stupendous production was potatoes, of which over 1,000,000 barrels were shipped, the balance consisting of thirty-nine varieties of fruit and vegetables in varying quantities.

TRANSPORTATION.

No City in the country is better located for, or better provided with transportation facilities for the import of raw material and the export of finished product than is Norfolk. Seven of the most important trunk line railroads in the country, aggregating with their allied lines 42,000 miles of track, have their deep water terminals here, and in addition to seven ocean-going steamship lines, there are numerous river lines centering in this harbor, the smaller lines bringing in produce from the near-lying sections, and the larger ones handling all classes of freight to and from the ports of the world. It is truly stated that at the large railroad terminals here, freight may be unloaded from vessels on one side of a pier from any port in the world, and loaded into cars on the same pier for any point in North America which can be reached by rail. The following large rail and water lines enter Norfolk: Norfolk & Western Railway, Southern Railway, Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, Chesapeake & Ohio Railway, New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk Railroad (Pennsylvania System), Virginian Railway, Seaboard Air Line Railway, Norfolk Southern Railroad, Old Dominion Steamship Company, Merchants & Miners Transportation Company, Baltimore Steam Packet Company, Chesapeake Steamship Line, Clyde Steamship Lines, Norfolk & Washington Steamboat Company, and many smaller water lines. These valuable adjuncts of transportation, together with additional facilities now under consideration, will place Norfolk in an unrivaled position for the handling of the immense traffic which will be developed for this coast from the opening of the Panama Canal.

FINANCIAL.

The pulse of a City's prosperity may always be felt through its banking institutions, and these financial arteries are peculiarly well established and managed in Norfolk, where there are twelve banks, State and National. Let the figures speak:

	Clearings	Deposits	Capital and Surplus
1910....	$158,618,952.00	$18,613,592.00	$6,173,591.00
1911....	168,007,587.00	20,892,149.00	6,347,370.00
1912....	189,997,676.00	23,001,927.00	6,585,119.00
1914....	221,820,505.00	22,746,823.00	7,066,286.00

In this category it might be well to state that the building operations in Norfolk have increased from $95,800.00 in 1900 to $3,093,229.60 in 1913, and taxable values from $65,619,700.00 in 1911, to $70,195,220.00 in 1913.

A CONVENTION CITY.

Norfolk is rapidly assuming her place in the front ranks of Cities favored by all classes of organizations as a haven of hospitality and convenience for assembling of conventions. No City in the Eastern section of the country can offer more attractions in the way of accessibility, climate, hotel accommodations, and food supply suitable to any season, than Norfolk, and so far from having to seek or solicit annual gatherings of business and social bodies, voluntary applications are frequent for information as to times and seasons most favorable for such gatherings. There are nine modern hotels here, with a capacity for accommodating 3,000 guests or more.

EDUCATIONAL.

No single item can evidence a City's prosperity better than that of educational advantages and facilities. It can be said with justifiable pride, that Norfolk has a public school system unsurpassed in the South. The system comprises forty schools, with 400 teachers and 12,200 pupils. The Matthew F. Maury High School, lately completed, is modern and up-to-date in every particular, and its graduates are ready for entrance into universities. The City has invested a million and a half dollars in school buildings, ground and equipment and is now preparing to erect another large high school building.

Several high grade private schools lend an additional interest to the educational feature, and there is a well-established Mechanics Institute, where enterprising and ambitious young men are able at an almost inappreciable expense to equip themselves for practical business or professional life.

One hundred and thirty-one churches and a fine public library but add to the opportunities for education and culture.

HEALTH AND DIVERSION.

Thanks to an entirely efficient and up-to-date Health Department, the scheme of which is now being freely advocated as a standard for work in other Cities, Norfolk enjoys health conditions to the extent that the mortality rate is lower than any other City South of New York.

The climatic conditions are ideal, and the fresh air from the sea tends to cool the temperature in Summer, especially at night, and in Winter a moderate cold is tempered by the proximity of the Gulf Stream.

The average temperatures for the seasons are, for Spring, 57; Summer, 76; Autumn, 61; and Winter, 42 degrees.

The whole community enjoys the proximity of seven seaside resorts, all within one hour's ride by trolley or boat. Among these may be mentioned Ocean View, Virginia Beach, Cape Henry, Willoughby Beach and Old Point Comfort.

With these attractions in the Summer and three first-class theatres for Winter amusement, Norfolk is indeed a fortunate haven for those seeking rest and recreation.

THE HARBOR OF NORFOLK-PORTSMOUTH.

The port and harbor of Norfolk-Portsmouth are too well known to the outside world for an unskilled pen to do justice to their tremendous importance and capacity. In short, there is a channel from the Atlantic Ocean, through that peerless world-known harbor of Hampton Roads, to the United States Navy Yard above the Cities, thirty-five feet in depth, and varying in width from 450 to 300 feet—sufficient to carry in safety the largest ships afloat. The value of the tonnage carried in this channel to and from the harbor is annually about $800,000,000.00.

THE NAVY YARD.

An invested capital of $10,000,000.00 by the Government is represented in the Norfolk Navy Yard, which employs nearly 3,000 workmen. Also, in connection with this Naval Station is the St. Helena Training Station for Naval Apprentices, through which passes 42% of the apprentices enlisted in the United States Navy. The Government has invested $840,000.00 in the equipment of this Station. The Marine Barracks here is one of the finest on either coast, and represents an investment of $400,000.00. The United States Marine Hospital, located in this harbor, is one of the most important adjuncts of the United States Health Service, and plans are now on foot to make it the finest Naval Hospital center in the world by the application of an appropriation of $2,000,000.00 which has been asked for by the Naval Medical Authorities for this purpose.

It is an assured fact that in the immediate future, a fortification will be established at Cape Henry, seventeen miles from Norfolk, which will be the Gibraltar of the Atlantic Coast. It is designed by the Government to expend over $3,000,000.00 in fortifying the entrance to Chesapeake Bay at this point, and it is conceded that this is the most vital military project of this time. The nearness of Fort Monroe, a large Army Post, lends much interest along these lines. Also the State of Virginia has acquired and equipped a permanent Rifle Range and grounds for the annual encampment and manoeuvres for the State Troops, a few miles south of Cape Henry, an hour's ride from Norfolk. This Rifle Range will be used also by the United States Government for Target Practice.

The Greatest Value in

Advertising is that which is presented at the time one is ready to buy; the classifications in the City Directory are the very best forms of advertising, because they reach the buyer when he is seeking the name and address of some business house from whom he may buy.

BLANK BOOK MAKING,

106 AND 108

HIGH STREET, PORTSMOUTH, VA.

THIS BUSINESS concern has been established, going and growing for three-quarters of a century, surviving the baneful effects of epidemics, civil war and reconstruction days, financial panics and other vicissitudes incident to the period. During this long term of eventful years many similar concerns have been born in this community, and after a more or less brief and precarious existence, have died and been forgotten. Only the fittest has survived. This long and vigorous life of seventy-five years means something—it means honesty of purpose, faithful and efficient service; it spells fitness and suggests the persistent pursuance of a policy of fair-dealing and efficiency in business methods, which has earned the unqualified support and endorsement of its patrons, as well as the respect and good will of the public at large. Withal, being still in the front rank and vigorous, is fairly entitled to be rated as "Reliable."

THE PLANT is fully equipped with modern devices, machines and appliances to meet the demands of the times; (in this particular being superior to any other plant of the kind in the community); and being operated by tried and capable workmen, under the direction of managers who have had a long and wide experience, is prepared to render prompt and efficient service at reasonable prices.

Will be glad to have your orders.
